DETROIT MAN ENDS HIS LIFE

JUMPED FROM ELEVEN- STORY BUILDING

Had First Attempted to Kill
Woman Who Called on Him
—Claimed That She Had Been Hounding Him.

Detroit, June 24.—Charles S. Swayze, 35, of Saginaw, Mich., was shot by himself from the eleventh floor of the Chamber of Commerce building, Swayze then jumped out of a window to the brick pavement beneath. He was instantly killed. The woman will probably recover.

Swayze was employed by a life insurance company and was former assistant superintendent of the Detroit house of correction.

Miss Alvord drove up to the building in an automobile, accompanied by a man. She went to the eleventh floor and entered the office of the insurance company asked to have an interview with Swayze. She was shown into a small private office, where Swayze joined her, locking the door. In a few minutes persons in the office heard a struggle, then screams, followed in quick succession by several pistol shots. Manager McCall broke open the door and found the woman prostrated on the floor, hair disheveled, waist torn and blood pouring from pistol wounds in the neck and wrist. Through an open window McCall could see Swayze's hands clutching the window ledge. Swayze let go and the body went whirling through the air. It hit several wires, turned over twice, striking on the face and chest. A bullet wound in the nose showed he had shot himself before taking the leap.

Miss Alvord worked at the house of correction when Swayze was assistant superintendent there. A letter written by Swayze was found, which it is alleged says Swayze and Miss Alvord were intimate and that the intimacy was responsible for Swayze losing his position at the house of correction, and that the woman had been hounding him.

Swayze was aged 35 and leaves a widow and two children.

MARINE COMMISSION.

Chicago, June 24.—The United States marine commission, created under provision of the Gardner bill passed at the last session of congress, conferred with Chicago manufacturers, shippers, exporters and bankers here to day with a view of forming plans for increasing the number of ships carrying the American flag on the high seas. A plan will be submitted to congress for consideration at the next session. The commissioners will remain two days.

At the afternoon session the United States marine commission listened to arguments of several men who are interested in upbuilding of the American merchant marine. W. L. Brown, president of the American Shipbuilding company, told the commission of the prosperous condition of ship commerce on the great lakes and gave for the reason of this prosperity lack of competition by foreign vessels and improved facilities for handling freight. Brown said he thought coast marines might be able to compete with foreign vessels if they could be protected by a subsidy bill until such facilities might be built for handling freight as are in operation on the great lakes.

James A. Patton, a commission merchant, spoke against a ship subsidy, declaring such a thing once started would be kept up continually.

The commissioners adjourned their session in Chicago to meet next Friday in Detroit.

GIVEN FREEDOM

Perdicaris and Varley, Held Captive by Raisuli, Arrive at Tangier.

Tangier, June 25, 12:55 a. m.—Ten Perdicaris and Cromwell Varley, who were captured by the bandit Raisuli, have just arrived here. Perdicaris is very much fatigued after his long ride, but says he is glad to get back. He is greatly pleased with the reception accorded him by the townsmen, who met him in great numbers.

Perdicaris suffered many hardships while in the hands of Raisuli, although he says he does not believe those were the fault of Raisuli. Perdicaris was received at his town house by the authorities, admirals of the fleets and numerous personal friends. His Moorish servants made a great demonstration of joy, kissing their master's hands and clothes. Delay in turning over the prisoners was apparently a mistake as to date set for their release.

London, June 24.—Commenting on the release of Perdicaris and Varley the Times points out that the moral of the situation is that France must intervene and provide the sultan with an organized force and with funds.

The Standard credits "Secretary Hay's vigorous diplomacy" with the speedy closing of the remarkable incident which has troubled contemporary history in Morocco.

BRYAN ON ILLINOIS

Claims State Lost to Democrats by Action of Gang of Polit- ical Pirates.

Winnebago, Neb., June 24.—Commenting on the Illinois Democratic state convention to be held to day, W. J. Bryan declares it means that the Democrats have lost all hopes of carrying the state. He says:

"It was not a convention; it was a usurpation of power by a conscienceless gang of political pirates. If the Democrats of Illinois are making a successful fight at the primaries, can they be robbed of their victory, what incentive is there to Illinois Democrats to study public questions and work for reform? The Hopkins crowd have destroyed all hope of success in Illinois this fall, but there is still a chance of appeal to the national convention, and this appeal should be taken. A contest should be prepared and the voice of the Democrats of Illinois should be given a chance for its life. Democracy is a mockery with a man like Hopkins in control. If he can stifle the voice of the people this year, he can do so indefinitely and the sooner he is repudiated the sooner the party will be put on sound ground. The national convention is an appellate court, to which the Democrats of Illinois ought to be able to look for justice. It is alleged that the same tactics were resorted to in Indiana; if so, there ought to be contests from that state also. The right of the Democratic voters to control their organization is one that cannot be disturbed without the demoralization and ultimate destruction of the party. That the people shall rule is fundamental."

CROP ADVICES HELP TRADE

ENLARGEMENT IN DEMAND REPORTED

Retail Trade Improving Owing to More Seasonable Weather—
Railway Earnings Thus far
This Month Satisfactory.

New York, June 24.—Broad-street's review of trade says: There has been some enlargement in demand at the west this week, but betterment as yet is largely one of tone and is predicated upon unquestionably better crop advices from nearly all sections. Reports from leading industries are not significant of any particular reaction from dullness noted heretofore. The iron trade appears to be grounding upon the bottom as regards prices and curtailment is becoming widespread. From leading textile industries the story is one of almost midsummer dullness and of a waiting disposition on the part of manufacturers. Prices generally, except cotton and textiles, show few important changes and really evince considerable steadiness. No particular improvement in collections is yet to be seen and a long spell of warm weather is still regarded as necessary if retail trade in seasonable goods is to be stimulated. Increased inquiry for hardware is noted at western points and rather more firmness is seen in prices for tin and copper. Wool has firmed up mainly because old supplies are scarce and manufacturers who have needed supplies have had to pay higher prices for new clip.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week were 1,272,000 bushels, against 3,518,000 this week last year; July 1, 1903, to date, 122,727,000, against 230,109,000 last season. Corn exports for the week were 387,000 bushels, against 1,286,000 a year ago; July 1, 1903, to date, 5,019,000 bushels, against 55,585,000 last season.

DUN'S REPORT.

New York, June 24.—Dun's report says: Aside from the strike of garment workers developments of the past week have tended to strengthen confidence. As the political convention has ended and, although its action was almost a foregone conclusion, the industrial atmosphere is slightly clearer. The fiscal year is drawing to a close with national finances in sound condition and small shrinkage in federal customs receipts being no cause for uneasiness. The most important trade influence just now is the progress of crops and the past week has brought no setback. Seasonable weather has stimulated the distribution of merchandise, retail business improving very noticeably at many cities, although it is not customary to find sales increasing at this time. Railway earnings thus far for June are surprisingly satisfactory, an increase over last year of 47 per cent being reported. Few changes are noted in the situation at iron furnaces and steel mills. Nominally the list of prices remains the same. Taking the industry as a whole, reports are most unanimous regarding the lack of low orders, but there is a wide diversity of opinion as to the future. Many authorities anticipate a revival in the fall; others believe there will be no material change.

Failures this week were 27 in the United States, against 223 last year.

GOVERNOR PEABODY

Colled on While in Chicago and Denounced for His Action in Deporting Miners.

Chicago, June 24.—After his work as delegate to the Republican national convention was concluded Governor Peabody of Colorado was threatened by three men, who forced their way into his room at the Auditorium Annex. According to the statement made to day by the governor, the men invaded his room just after he had dismissed several members of the Colorado delegation. He was alone at the time. The spokesman of the party claimed to be the publisher of a labor union paper in Chicago. He informed the governor that he had been delegated by the board of business agents of the Building Trades Council of Chicago to present to him a copy of resolutions denouncing his action in deporting union men from Colorado.

After the intruders had presented their resolutions, at the same time advising Peabody to get out of Chicago, the governor declared he'd stay in Chicago as long as he had business here, and denounced the resolutions as a "pack of malicious lies." He insisted he had never opposed labor unions, but that among union men in Colorado there are and have been "a number of dynamiters and murderers," and told his visitors if they countenance and endorse such methods they were no better.

FIX AGE LIMIT.

Columbus, Ohio, June 24.—The supreme council of the United Commercial Travelers to day adopted an amendment to the constitution fixing the maximum age limit of eligible applicants for membership at 60 years.

LAFOLLETTE FACTION

Criticise Action of National Con- vention as Highhanded.

Madison, June 24.—The Republican state committee elected at a state convention controlled by the LaFollette faction, held a meeting to day which lasted into the night. In addition to the committee proper a number of prominent Republicans from various portions of the state were in attendance. The action of the national convention in Chicago was explained by W. H. Chynoweth, Frank T. Tucker and Henry F. Coehens, in which they characterized the action in throwing out the LaFollette delegates as highhanded and without justification. It was developed that the general feeling among those present and the sentiment throughout Wisconsin was in favor of polling the largest Roosevelt and LaFollette Republican majority ever cast.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

A Little Forethought Saves Labor in the Kitchen.

The kitchen cupboards and dresser drawers should be kept tidy day by day. Never let them get into such a state that they need a "good turnout."

Have all your tins labeled clearly, so that no time is lost in taking lids off, and give each tin and jar its own shelf and place.

Never let the flour dredger, salt jar, etc., remain unfilled. Refill them as soon as they are emptied.

Have sufficient, but not more than necessary, cloths in use, and wash these out when they are done with for the day. They will then serve for several days without boiling.

Always have plenty of herbs, raspings and spices ready to hand. An hour in the evening spent in preparing these saves many a moment when preparing dinner.

Sweeping the Carpet.

Carpet sweeping is best done with a reliable carpet sweeper, for labor is saved and cleanliness insured by the collection of the dust, which, being dislodged from the carpet, has no chance of being blown over the room and settling in furniture and draperies. If the sweeping cannot be done with a carpet sweeper, then begin proceedings by scattering a few damp tea leaves over the carpet. Sweep with a not too hard broom and always in one direction. Too much energy in the matter does no good, but actual harm, for it makes the carpet shabby before its time.

BANK CLEARINGS.

New York, June 24.—Total bank clearings compiled by Broadstreet's for the past week were $1,897,775,000, a decrease of 19 per cent compared with the corresponding week last year.

JAPS WORRY PORT ARTHUR

MAKE ANOTHER ATTACK ON STRONGHOLD

Garrison Given No Rest—Japanese Preparing for Grand
Combined Assault—Skirmishes Reported.

Chicago, June 24.—A special to the News from Chefoo says:

"Another demonstration took place off Port Arthur yesterday. Firing began from the forts about 10 a. m. and continued until 1 p. m. At 8:30 the same evening firing began heavily from the bluffs with much activity of searchlights, indicating approach of torpedo craft. Later the sound of more distant firing was heard, evidently from the land side of Port Arthur, continuing until 2:30 this morning, with a brief renewal at 5 a. m. "During that period there was almost uninterrupted thunder of field guns and volley of firing, punctuated with crashes of siege guns. It is probable there was general shore action with naval demonstrations. It seems as though the Japanese intend to wear out the defenders by continued night activity before making the final simultaneous sea and land attack."

ESCAPED FROM JAPANESE.

Liao Yang, June 24.—Captain Von Lang and two six-six volunteer scouts have rejoined the command, arriving here on foot after a hot skirmish with the Japanese rear guard. Von Lang and command started out on horseback to investigate the movements of the enemy. They rode clear around the Japanese advance and gained important information regarding the Japanese position. When in the rear of the Japanese main body they were discovered and surrounded by two squadrons of cavalry, but cut their way through with sabres and polearms, losing five men. Nearly all their horses were scattered. They crept to the hills, where the Japanese cavalry was unable to follow them, and they succeeded in regaining the colors with much valuable information. Reinforcements are constantly arriving at Liao Yang.

WILL BE BIG FEATURE Mackerel Brigade Has Greatest Possibilities in It for Attractive Advertising.

There is one event in the coming Fourth of July celebration that should receive the attention of the merchants. That is the mackerel brigade and what can be done in it. What if every live merchant should get one of his clerks to dress up in the show that catches the people's eye? It is the man with the paint on his face and the funny make-up that does the work. What makes a man more popular than to get hit by some funny joke in a minstrel show? There is nothing that does more to interest and amuse a crowd than something of this sort. Get some man or boy and fix him up to suit your fancy. The boy runs a chance to make a piece of money and the merchant gets some of the most potent advertising that he ever had.

Gentlemen, we must have your help or this will be a dead day and the blame will be yours, as well as the committee's. The committee will get the most of the blame—that is a cinch—but the merchants will also get roasted. Get your coat off and help. The money you have given is all right, but your personal help will do a lot more. A point will be named later for the mackerels to meet and a good wide path will be made for their way around the square. A few samples of what could be done would be something like this: Johnson, Hackett & Guthrie could dress a boy up in some fantastic wall paper design, put a kettle on his head for a pun o' man's, and give him some cards or bills to give to the crowd. Herman could fix up his man with a sky-scaring hat, with the usual short dress and other appendages, and so on around the square. Every merchant could get some good out of it.

The vaudeville will be five live artists from Chicago, all of them good men, and each and every one a sidesplitter in himself. There will be also a chorus of five colored voices, not less than twelve, who will sing songs that will do your blood good. And the bone and sinew of this class will be our own Mallorays. These are the gentlemen and ladies who please everybody. There will be no fake in the whole thing. Everything will be first class. Not a single feature will be allowed to fail. And then don't forget the boys who will eat the swinging dumplings soaked in molasses; the pie-eating youngsters of the city and county. The snappers, who will eat apples on a string; the man in the sack, who will run 100 yards; the high hurdles, and the fast runners. Let every one help out and talk her up.

Vance Ray Pulled His Rescuer, James Lukins Under Water and Both Perish—Bodies Not Recovered.

Petersburg, June 24.—An attempt to save a drowning boy in the swollen Sangamon Thursday afternoon ended in a double tragedy. A hundred men are searching the river banks and dragging the stream to night trying to recover the bodies of Vance Ray, a 13-year-old lad, and James Lukins, a farm hand, who were the victims.

The drowning, which is the first to occur near the city in several years, was witnessed by several people who were in the neighborhood of the Chicago & Alton station.

Ray, with some other boys, was in bathing and started to swim across the river. When in midstream, the young swimmer became exhausted, struggling against the current and cried for help. None of his comrades dared venture to his assistance.

Lukins, who gave his life trying to save the boy, was fishing on the river bank some distance below where the boys were playing in the water. Hearing their cries, Lukins plunged into the current and forced his way to a point where the floundering lad would pass.

When the two bodies came together the boy grasped Lukins about the neck and carried his intending rescuer under the waves after a moment's struggle. The swimmers did not reappear upon the surface.

Ray is a son of a civil war veteran here who is engaged in the wagon-making business. A widow and little child survive James Lukins.

Recent rains have caused the Sangamon to reach high water mark, and at a late hour to night the searchers despair of finding the bodies before the river falls.

THE DAY WE CELEBRATE Will Be Observed in Jacksonville This Year With Grand Monster Demonstration.

There is perhaps no holiday in the year that has received the universal attention given to the Fourth of July. For the past four or five years we have had no regular celebration in this city, and a few of the live wires among the merchants, getting their heads together, made up their minds that this would be a good time to celebrate and have a good, royal old bomb-bursting Fourth. The various committees were appointed and the work of getting funds was started under as active a corps of men as has ever canvassed the city. With but few exceptions the merchants have gone into the matter and have made it possible for the men on the Fourth committee to get a crowd together and have a fine time.

Now in order to have a live time it will be necessary for every merchant in the city to help. When a croaker is approached on a subject like this, he always sings the same old song and says that the restaurants and saloons are the only people in the city who are helped by a celebration of this kind. He does not take into consideration the fact that we are bringing to the city many people who will spend from one dollar to ten and that sooner or later he is bound to get a piece of that same money. Again, we keep a lot of money here that would otherwise go to some other town, and that is money in the pocket for the home merchant. There is another fact that is not generally known to some merchants and that is that if the windows are tastefully decorated, there will be plenty of people who will do very little that day but go around and look in the windows and enjoy what they see. Many of these people will not have enough money with them to buy what they see in the window or what they want, but if they see something in the window that catches their eye, they will remember that article and that store, and no other store will enter their minds as having the same thing, although every other store of the same kind may have the same thing. When they have their wheat threshed or their corn sold, they will come in and look around the store for that very same article and buy that with a nice little bunch besides. This is not an empty idea, but a fact that has been often demonstrated. It is the man who advertises who makes the big go. It is not the croaker who lets his window go the same as any other day.

Now, gentlemen of the various stores, the committee ask you as a special favor to them and to the city in general to decorate your stores as prettily as possible and also to decorate the outside with whatever you may have in the decorating line. Let every man be a committee unto himself to attend to this matter and make the old town look like a western boom had struck her with all four feet. Make the day a stinger for fun, get out in front and throw confetti on your neighbor's walk and let him come back with a little of the same. Put out a little advertising stuff for the people to read as they eat their dinners, the more the better, and the more catchy it is the more good it will do. Don't lay down and be a dead one. Take a breath and with a low tackle, make as much fun as you can. This will do the old town more good than a trade excursion at half the price. Hurrah and holler with the kids when the balloon goes up and if you don't want to help in any other way, get out and talk. If we don't boom the old berg, who will? Certainly not the other towns. Be a committee yourself and don't leave your business to some other fellow to run for you.

OWNS OLD BIBLE.

Easton, June 23.—Andrew L. Keller has a Bible 266 years old, and it is in an excellent state of preservation. It is fifteen inches long, ten inches wide and six inches thick. The covers are of boards, supposed to be white oak, covered with pigskin. A large metal clasp fastened to one of the covers and used to keep the volume closed is still bright and entire.

In spite of its age there is not a leaf loose or torn, and the paper has its original color and is not yellow. In the whole book there is not a single word that is not legible.

WILL COME TO AMERICA.

CAPTAIN PIERCE ARMY CHAPLAIN

Promoted as Reward for Meritorious Service—Rosario Surrendered to Him.

The Washington (D. C.) Times of the 15th contains the portraits of three army chaplains who have been promoted. They are Allen Ainsworth, Twenty-fourth infantry; Charles C. Pierce of the artillery corps, but stationed at Ft. Myer, and Henry Swift, Thirtieth infantry.

Speaking of the subject the Times says: "Reward for meritorious services has finally come to four well known army chaplains and six others who have been in the service more than ten years, and have been commended for gallant conduct, will probably be designated for promotion in a short time under the provisions of the recent act of congress making it possible for chaplains to attain the rank of major. Until the present time a chaplain has never ranked higher than a captain.

"Although Major Pierce belongs to the artillery corps he is now at Fort Myer with the Fifteenth cavalry, and also served there with the Second cavalry.

"Chaplain Pierce is probably better known in Washington than any other army chaplain and is extremely popular at Fort Myer, where he has been especially successful in the direction of the sports of the men. He is a companion and friend to the soldiers first, then a clergyman. Consequently he is not regarded as a 'Gospel Shark' by the men. It was to Chaplain Pierce that Rosario surrendered."

A Little Talk on Soap

Probably there is no other household necessity about which so little is known as soap, and yet there is no article that is put to more varied uses in the home.

We doubt if there is a housekeeper in Jacksonville that would tolerate the use of a dish or utensil washed with yellow, resin filled soap, did she know of the renderings of the slaughter house the fat of cholera and diseased cattle that enter into its manufacture.

Stop one moment and consider that your inner garments are not only washed but boiled in these ingredients and only slightly changed by the action of the caustic potash or lye.

All yellow soaps contain these animal fats as do many white soaps that are filled with tallow grease. Ignorance of the composition of these yellow soaps or with the enlightened inability to procure any other have fostered their sale until now.

Recognizing the demand for a soap that would meet the requirements of the hygienic housekeeper we have placed in our stock and now have on sale in our busy basement, a purely vegetable soap made of nothing but coconut butter, cotton-seed oil and borax, containing no vile animal whatsover and as pure, fresh and dainty as the ocean breeze. This soap will lather freely in hot or cold, hard or soft water, will not shrink flannels or woollens, will not fade dyed goods will wash the soiled linens and muslins and send them from the tubelcan, white, sweet-smelling and whole some, and yet is as valuable and re-freshing in the toilet and bath as in the laundry.

Floating soaps are made to float by beating air into the stock during the making.

Blo-Re-Mo White Laundry
Soap

Does not float and it is all soap, no wind.

To introduce this soap into every home in this city we have procured the services of a demonstrator who will be pleased to tell you all about it and show you samples of the oils it contains. And the price within the reach of all 5c the bar, or six for 25c or $4.00 the box, 100 bars.

Remember the name BLO-RE-MO WHITE LAUNDRY SOAP, the aristocrat of all soaps.

READ THIS:

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 24, 1901.—For twelve years I have suffered from diabetes and have spent hundreds of dollars with various doctors, with but little benefit. I was recommended to try a bottle of Texas Wonder, Hall's Great Discovery, and will cheerfully testify to the public that it did me more good than all things else put together and am altogether another man. I have persuaded many of my friends to try it.

ILLINOIS SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

Last of Celebrated Partello Case—Court Finds Against Complainant—Other Decisions of Interest.

Springfield, June 24.—The supreme court Thursday handed down ninety-seven decisions. Probably the most important was the decision which puts an end to the famous William Z. Partello case. The court sustains the decision of the Sangamon circuit court, and Partello will not receive any part of the $28,000 and interest amounting in all to $42,000, claimed to be due from the state of Illinois for work done on the state reformatory at Pontiac.

The words of the opinion in the Partello case may also have an important bearing on the suit filed by Attorney Levy Mayer, of Chicago, in the United States circuit court here in which the convict contract labor bill is attacked. Mayer asserted that the word "willfully" was inserted while the bill was in the governor's possession; after it had been withdrawn from the secretary of state's office, and that the speaker of the house and president of the senate did not sign the bill in its altered condition. Oral testimony will be necessary to decide the Partello case the court holds that oral testimony is incompetent. WHY ORAL TESTIMONY WAS RECEIVED.

The Partello case has been one of long standing and had many interesting points. The supreme court in passing on the case says that the governor has the right to change his signature while the bill is in his possession, but he could not lawfully recall it after it had been sent to the office of the secretary of state. In considering the oral testimony offered in the Partello case the supreme court says that it is done for the purpose of getting a clear insight of the case, and not for the purpose of endorsing the practice of introducing oral testimony in such cases. Partello sought to secure a writ of mandamus against State Auditor McCullough to compel him to issue a check for the payment of his claim, which was passed by the last legislature and afterward vetoed by Governor Yates. Partello claimed that the signature of the governor was changed and the bill marked "not approved" after the bill had been filed in the office of Secretary Rose as "approved."

RAILROADS MUST PAY FEES.

Railroad corporations organized under the provisions of the revised statutes of Illinois are amenable to the provisions of chapter 53 of the revised statutes, according to a decision handed down by the supreme court Thursday. The question involved is whether or not a railroad corporation is compelled to pay the same fee upon incorporating that is exacted from other concerns. The supreme court takes the view that the evident purpose of the legislature in enacting the present corporation laws was to increase the fees payable by all corporations, and the only distinction as to railroad companies, which are dealt with in a separate chapter, is that the law did not fix the precise point in the proceedings to incorporate, at which fees should be paid. The court's decision is in the case of the People ex rel against James A. Rose, secretary of state. The proceeding was instituted by the Belleville & Mascoutah Railway company, which sought to compel Secretary Rose to file and record the articles of its incorporation and accept therefor the sum of $2. Secretary Rose contended that the corporation should pay $47, the amount to which the state is entitled if the same chapter of the statute applies to railroads as to other corporations. The contention of the secretary is sustained by the supreme court and the writ of mandamus prayed for is denied.

CAPITAL STOCK AND TAXATION.

The constitutionality of the act exempting from assessment the capital stock of corporations organized for purely manufacturing purposes, news paper publishing, stock breeding and mining and sale of coal is passed upon in the case of The Hub against John John J. Hanberg, county treasurer of Cook county, in which the corporation sought to avoid the payment of $40,000 assessment on its intangible property. Discrimination in the act exempting the class of corporations herein mentioned was the basis for the contention of the act. The supreme court decides that the legislature has full power, under the constitution, to provide for the taxation of the intangible property of some corporations, even while exempting that of other classes.

UNIVERSITY WILL GET ITS MONEY.

The court affirms the decision of the circuit court of Cook county in the case of the Chicago Title & Trust company, trustees for the University of Illinois, against Governor Yates. The plaintiff was directed by the courts of Cook county to pay to the state of Illinois $6,608.28 for interest collected on bonds. The case grows out of the Charles G. Spaulding case, who was president of the Globe Savings bank, and also treasurer of the University of Illinois. In April, 1897, the court appointed a receiver for a private lock box in the Globe bank, and when it was opened a number of bonds were found. The University of Illinois commenced proceeding for the recovery of the bonds, and the court's decree gave the university $6,000. The supreme court, in its opinion, says that there can be no doubt that the state was entitled to the money received by the Chicago Title & Trust company, acting as trustee under direction of the court.

BIG ASSESSMENT CASE DECIDED.

In the case of the People on relation of County Judge O. N. Carter of Cook county, in which the city sought to secure from the Cook county circuit court a writ of mandamus on Judge Carter to compel him to sign and seal certain bills of exceptions to an assessment for the construction of sewers to the amount of $887,000, in the city of Chicago, the supreme court sustains the contention of the lower court, which refused to issue the writ of mandamus and dismissed the case. Thirty-six thousand pieces of property were involved. Judge Carter refused to sign the bill of exceptions because it contained facts not brought out in the city's case, and in this the supreme court sustains him.

COURT CAN CITE ELECTION JUDGES.

In the case of Harry B. Sherman and others against the People, which was appealed from Cook county, the supreme court affirms the decision of the lower court and holds that the county court has the right to appoint judges of election and cite them for contempt for misbehavior in office. The court also holds that all contentions of error by Sherman and his co-judges of being deprived of their liberty without due process of law, and that the facts do not show contempt, are not well taken.

JURY BRIBES FINED.

The verdict of the Cook county court in the cases against John O'Donnell and Gallagher is affirmed, and they must serve the sentences imposed on them. Justice Scott dissents from the opinion. The decision of the court was written by Justice Wilkin, and deals at great length with the errors cited by the attorneys for the defendants. Gallagher and O'Donnell, after their trial in Chicago, appealed to the appellate court, where they lost, and the decision of the court to day is final.

They were convicted and fined for conspiracy to bribe jurors in a case where the Chicago Union Traction company was defendant; the case being brought to impose the penalty of a fine on the company for failure to comply with the ordinance providing that the company should give transfers. It is alleged they packed the jury with bribed jurors. The railroad company's object was to stave off the cases, some 200 in number, until the supreme court passed on the constitutionality of the ordinance.

For Removing Ink Stains.

A standard preparation for removing ink or almost any other obstinate stain is made from oxalic acid and lemon juice. Dissolve a tablespoonful of each in a pint of rain or soft water and keep on hand in a bottle. Rub the stain with this mixture, but the moment that it disappears wash the fabric where it was used very thoroughly in clear, cold water.

The Icebox.

If wooden racks are used to hold the ice in your refrigerator, have at least three, so that each in turn may be thoroughly well dried in the sun before being again employed. Even in a tiny apartment this is possible by watching the course of the sun. The odors from sodden wood quickly affect the food, especially milk and butter and uncooked meat.

Summer Pillows.

Among the pillows which will keep divans in airy summer nooks none are more exquisite than those covered with Japanese embroidered linens. Pale or deep blue linen is marked in white, with chrysanthemums, roses or cherry blossoms. A most desirable feature of these covers is their washable quality.

Sweeten the Cellar.

For the sake of general healthfulness set one or two boxes of unslaked lime in the cellar in some out of the way corner. It is an invaluable aid in drying out the cellar.

The Care of Silver.

If silver is washed every week in warm suds containing a tablespoonful of ammonia, the polish can be preserved for a long time.

TREMONT FIRE EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Julia D. Robbins Formerly of This City Fainted After Being Taken From Hotel.

Quincy, June 24.—Mrs. Julia D. Robbins had a peculiar experience in the recent Tremont hotel fire. As editor of the Weekly Record she had been sitting during Wednesday afternoon at her desk in her room on the second floor of the hotel over the Hagenbrush cigar store. Glancing at her watch she noted that it was 5 o'clock and time to prepare for supper. The last item she wrote for the paper was this: "Misses Elizabeth and Mary Welch will leave for St. Louis next Monday to visit the exposition."

Laying aside pencil and paper Mrs. Robbins, who wore only a petticoat and loose wrapper, went over to the washstand and was washing her hands when she glanced out of the window and saw people on the opposite of the street gazing at the hotel and gesticulating. Not a word of warning had reached her that the hotel was on fire and she was at a loss to understand the cause of the apparent commotion in the street below. She learned when she went to the door and found the hall filled with smoke and heard the roar of the flames on the upper floors. Then she started for the presser to get her spectacles. About the same time Mrs. Hatch, Nickerson and Koch entered the room and from them she learned that the house was on fire and that while there was no immediate danger it might be well for her to leave while the stairway was still open. Mrs. Nickerson and Hatch escorted her out of the room and down stairs and across the street to the Hilda barber shop. From there she saw the flames and clouds of smoke rolling out of the upper windows and somebody mentioned the fact of the death of Miss Elizabeth Welch and the serious injury of Miss Mary Welch, another dear friend. The shock was too great and she swooned. Water was applied to her face and temples and she presently recovered. It was at a trying ordeal, but Mrs. Robbins was brave through it all and was around Thursday as usual. The rooms she and Dr. Robbins occupied were badly water soaked and the clothing and other personal property may not all of it, at least, be further serviceable. The rooms were handsomely furnished, but the edges of the carpet around the door were charred and the contents of the room were water-logged and a sorry looking spectacle.

DEATH COMES

TO W. S. HOOK

Passed Away Thursday at Weir Mitchell Hospital in Philadelphia—A Man Who Did Much for This City.

A dispatch Friday morning announced the death of William S. Hook at Philadelphia, where he was taken four weeks ago by Dr. E. P. Norbury, of this city. No particulars were obtainable. It was known that he had been in very poor health for a long time, his nervous system having been greatly shattered. He had gone to the City of Brotherly Love hoping to receive relief there, but the end came instead. His sister, Miss Fanny, was on the way when the sad event took place and she probably reached there the same evening.

Mr. Hook was born March 20, 1840, in the house which stood so long on the spot now occupied by State Street church. It was the residence of Dr. J. T. Cassell, after the Hook family left it. Mr. Hook had the ordinary advantages of the public schools to a limited extent and when yet a boy went to clerk for Edward Scott in the grocery kept by the latter on the northwest corner of the square. He next went into the employ of Joseph O. King in the clothing business and later worked for A. N. McDonald, who was then a leading dry goods merchant. Mr. McDonald was one day boasting of the excellent boy he had in his employ and some one cautioned him not to say much or he would lose him, and so he did, for the good boy entered the banking house of Ayers & Campbell in June, 1867. The firm was changed to M. P. Ayers & Co., and in 1865 he became a member of the firm, remaining for twenty-one years, when he left to devote himself exclusively to his railroad interests, with which he has been more or less connected since 1870. He built up the well known Jacksonville Southeastern system, comprising the road which extended from this place to Litchfield, and which he continued to Centralia, the old P. P. & J. road from this place to Peoria; the Springfield & Havana road, extending from Havana to the state capital; the Wing road, from Springfield to Litchfield, and the L. C. & W. extending from Carrollton to the river. He also secured control of the city street railroad in 1875 and it is admitted by all posted that we have the best system of street car service for the size of the place in the state. He was president and general manager of the Jacksonville Southeastern system until 1893, after which he went to Los Angeles, Cal., where his active nature and fine abilities soon found scope for work. With the assistance of Prof. H. E. Storrs, then and now an influential citizen of that place, he secured a franchise for the Los Angeles Traction company and constructed a first class line and gave employment to a great many young men from this vicinity. He built up a large and profitable business and in 1903 sold out to a great syndicate controlled by some of the leading financiers of the country. He was then in poor health and though every effort was put forth for his recovery it was in vain. He was brought back to his home last September and nursed most tenderly and at last it was thought best for him to be taken to the Weir Mitchell hospital in Philadelphia in hopes that he might find relief there.

He was married in March, 1885, to Mrs. Barbee Simpson, of Lafayette, Ind., and since that time has had a beautiful home life. His wife was much interested in all good works and he cheerfully seconded her efforts. His wife, one son, William, and one stepson, Barbee Simpson, survive him. He leaves also a sister, Miss Frances, and two brothers, Marcus and Thomas.

Mr. Hook was eminently a sample of the men of this land who rise to eminence largely from their own efforts. The most his father could leave him was a good name and that was his richest heritage. He was always energetic and a valued employee for every man for whom he worked. As a business man he was peculiarly shrewd and far-sighted and few men have done more for the city than he. He built up the street railroad, as already stated, and to him is due the fact that we have the car shops here, which have been of such great value to the city. Our railroad facilities have also been increased through his energy and in various ways he contributed to the growth and prosperity of the place.

His home life was always happy and he was much devoted to his loved ones. He was a kind, affectionate husband, a tender, indulgent and faithful father, a dutiful and loving brother and a firm friend to all whom he esteemed. He will be missed in many circles in which he moved and though he had gone from this place, it still claims him as hers.

No arrangements for the funeral have been announced. The remains are to be brought to this city for interment.

The county warrants allowed at the June term of the county board of commissioners are now ready for payment at the office of the county clerk. Charles B. Graft, County Clerk.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has been a failure.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busy at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

American Officer Saved Russians.

Captain William V. Judson of the United States engineer corps, who recently helped avert a clash between two bodies of the czar's troops, is an observer with the Russian army.

The incident happened during the Russian reoccupation of the railroad at Polandien. When the Japanese had temporarily retired from the railroad a train with two companies of sappers was sent south from Liaoyang. Captain Judson was aboard. When the train reached a break in the line a body of troops was seen, and they were supposed to be Japanese. Sharpshooters were thrown out, and preparations were made to swoop down on the enemy.

Captain Judson through his glasses recognized the Russian uniforms, and the troops proved to be a party sent up the line from the south. Captain Judson is a native of Indiana and was graduated from West Point in 1888.

Pasture and the Cherries.

W. D. McCracken tells this story on Pasture: The eminent bacteriologist was talking about danger from germs at the family dinner table. He used a plate of cherries as an illustration.

"You see, my dears," he explained, lifting two cherries by the stem and dipping them into a glass of water, "when you do this you wash away any germs that have accumulated on the cherry."

While Pasture's thoughts were on the cherries he dipped all that he ate into the glass of water. Pretty soon, however, he relapsed into one of his customary fits of absentmindedness and drank the water, germs and all.

And next day he declared that he never had felt better in his life.

Oh, He Had Drilled.

Lieutenant General Chiffes told the following story the other day, according to the Kansas City Journal, as illustrating the unconscious humor which the Irishman is so often addicted to: "A true son of the Emerald Isle had applied at a recruiting station in Buffalo for enlistment in the army. The officer in charge asked him jokingly, I suppose, if he knew anything about drilling. 'Drillin', was it ye said, sor?' replied the Irishman. 'An' shure I've worked in the New York subway for two years. Drillin', bedad! Ask me another, sor.'"

Learned From the Bishop.

Mr. James H. Canfield, librarian at Columbia college; tells of a rumormongering who assured Bishop Potter that he always learned something new every time he came to hear him preach, adding by way of illustration:

"Why, bishop, until I heard that grand sermon of yours this mornin' I always believed Sodom and Gomorrah was a man and his wife!"—New York Times.

Noted American Chemist.

Dr. Charles Baskerville, professor of chemistry and director of the laboratory in the University of North Carolina, who recently announced that thorium is composed of two elements, is the first American chemist to discover a chemical element.

Until the discovery of Dr. Baskerville chemists had considered thorium one of the seventy primary elements. The American chemist shows that it is complex in its nature and composed of two elements, one of which Professor Baskerville has named carolinium in honor of his state and the other berzelium after Berzelius, the Swedish chemist who discovered thorium in 1828. The North Carolina professor made the discovery four years ago, but did not announce it until sure he was right.

Dr. Baskerville is a native of Mississippi and was educated at the University of Virginia and the University of Berlin. He is thirty-four years old and was appointed to his present position in 1900.

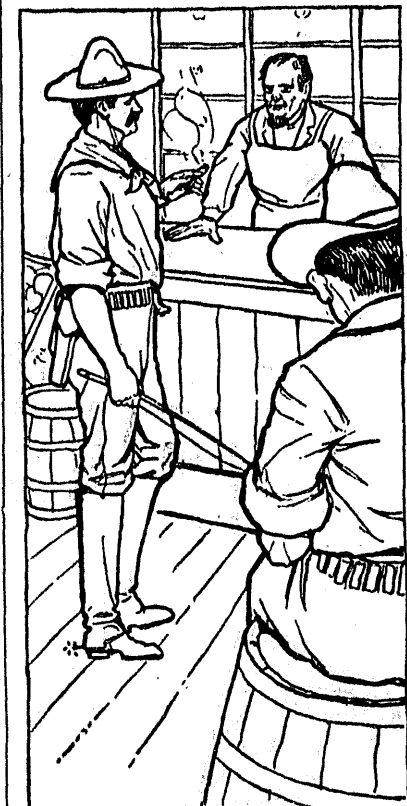

CONDENSED STORIES.

Frederick the Great's Encounter With a Young Officer.

Mention of Bismarck recalls a story he used to tell of an incident which his grandfather witnessed when serving under Frederick the Great. It affords good reading in the present time in view of mistakes and rumors of mistakes, degradations and equivocal promotions, of which tales come through from St. Petersburg. During some maneuvers an ensign made a mistake, and the old king, in a flaming passion, pursued him with a stick, intending to publicly chastise him. The ensign lit out for all he was worth and nimbly leaped a ditch which the king could not negotiate, but was left fuming on the wrong side. Later the colonel of the regiment reported to the king that the ensign had tendered his resignation. "I am sorry, sire, for he is a really fine soldier," said the colonel. "Send him to me," replied Frederick. The ensign came in, expecting to be beaten or perhaps sent to prison. "Here, sir, is your captaincy," said the king. "I meant to give it you this morning, but you ran so hard I could not catch you."—St. James' Gazette.

He Had the Crackers.

"In my younger days," remarked a New York theatrical manager recently, "I was directing the destinies of a small troupe of trained amateurs through the west, and

"SURE THING," SAID THE STORKEE.

When I say west I do not mean Ohio. I mean I was so far west that Denver was regarded as an effete eastern city.

"The stores out there are more versatile than any comedian who ever played Hamlet at a matinee. Uncle Tom at night and 'doubled in brass' in an intervening parade. You simply could not feast the proprietor of a store by asking for unexpected articles. Hardware, groceries, ammunition, patent medicines, boots and shoes, dry goods, mining implements, toilet articles—all these were the stock in trade of the merchants.

"In one little Arizona town I was in the leading store when a solemn man entered and said, 'Have you got any crackers?'"

"The proprietor of the store answered: 'Sure thing! What kind do you want—whip, fire or soup?'"

No Time to Waste on Fools.

When George Westinghouse as a young inventor was trying to interest capitalists in his automatic brake, he wrote a letter to Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, carefully explaining the details of the invention. Very promptly his letter came back to him indorsed in big, scrawling letters in the hand of Commodore Vanderbilt, "I have no time to waste on fools."

Afterward, when the Pennsylvania railroad had taken up the automatic brake and it was proving very successful, Commodore Vanderbilt sent young Mr. Westinghouse a request to call on him. The inventor returned the letter, indorsed on the bottom as follows: "I have no time to waste on fools."—Success.

How Bacon Settled Him.

A story that is told of Leonard Bacon, who was one of the best known theologians in New England a quarter of a century ago, illustrates the absurdity of a popular kind of argument. Dr. Bacon was attending a conference in one of the New England cities, and some assertions he made in his address were vehemently objected to by a member of the opposition.

"Why," he expostulated, "I never heard of such a thing in all my life!"

"Mr. Moderator," rejoined Bacon calmly, "I cannot allow my opponent's ignorance, however vast, to offset my knowledge, however small."—Harper's Weekly.

ALL A MISTAKE FOR THE CHILDREN

Needle Through Penny.

It is an acknowledged fact that a body which will scratch another body is generally harder than the first body—thus, diamond is harder than glass; glass is harder than marble, and so on. A steel point will scratch a piece of iron and is therefore harder than copper, and this brings us to the conclusion that it should be possible to drive a needle (which, of course, is of steel) through a penny, the latter being an alloy of chiefly copper and other metals. But it will be useless to try to drive the needle into the penny as you would drive a nail into a piece of wood, for the needle, being made of steel and therefore brittle, will snap at the first blow. But there is a remedy. Drive the needle through the center of a cork and then place it well on the middle of a penny, which in its turn has been placed upon a bolt or piece of iron with a hole in the center. Take a heavy hammer and strike the cork several times violently in the center, when you will find the needle will have been driven through the penny. This experiment can be done, but it is not easy; so when it is successfully accomplished it is quite a feat.

A Cane Trick.

Measure the length of your forearm along a cane by placing your elbow even with its head and marking the point to which the tip of your middle finger reaches.

Take hold of the cane with your middle finger covering the mark and your little finger nearest to the head. The cane must be at right angles to the hand and be grasped firmly, so that the tips of all the fingers are pressed tightly against the palm of the hand. It is not "fair" to hold the cane obliquely.

Now try to put the head of the cane to your lips. If you succeed you are an exception to the general rule, and even you will probably fail if you hold the cane in the same manner at a point a little farther from the head.

But any one can do the trick easily by holding the cane at a less distance from its head than the length of his forearm.

Game of Wolf and Lamb.

Now that warm weather has come little folks want to play outdoors to get both more space and fresh air.

There are plenty of games of tag, and one that is slightly different from ordinary tag is very popular.

"Wolf and lamb" is just opposite from "hide and seek." In this case just one person hides, and the rest start out to seek the "wolf." The "wolf" jumps out unexpectedly and tries to catch one of the "lamb," who immediately scatters and runs for base.

If the "wolf" catches a "lamb" the "lamb" is "wolf" next time, and so on. It is more fair in the beginning for the first "wolf" to be chosen by counting out.

Where They Came From.

Tom's mother had made him a pair of knickerbockers out of a pair of his father's left off trousers.

Tom is five years old and of course was very proud of the garment.

One day a lady called on his mother when he also happened to be at home. After the usual greetings the lady turned to Tom and said:

"Why, Tommy, what a swell you look in your knickerbockers, to be sure!"

Thereupon Tommy stands up proudly and exclaims, looking at them:

"Ain't they fine? My papa was married in these knickers."

A Few Conundrums.

What bird is a peddler like? A hawk.

Why is a tight boot like an oak tree? Because it produces a corn (acorn).

How do you swallow a door? Bolt it.

Why is a watchman like a mill horse? Because he goes his rounds.

Why is a thump like a hat? Because it is felt.

Where should a starving man be sent? To Hungary.

Why is the sun like a man of fashion? Because it turns night into day.

How to Know the Whippoorwill.

The whippoorwill is mottled all over with reddish brown, gray black and solid white; a white collar on neck, many bristles around the mouth, tall rounded and with patches of white on its under side. Length a little more than nine inches.

Post No Bills.

My big sister said to my mother the other day, "I'm going to post this letter with a dollar in it to the photographer to pay for my picture."

"You had better not," said my little sister, "cause there's lots of signs say, 'Post no bills.'"

What Do You Make of This?

Albert Smithers went a-fishing on a day when it was fine. By an ancient pollard willow there he cast his sliver.

Soon he had a bite! He chuckled. "Now, I'm sure a little jerk'll bring this fellow to the surface. While the eddies round him."

But the fish escaped, and Albert got his tackle in a tangle.

It was tolerably certain that he hadn't learned to.

So when evening came it didn't find the youthful sportsman there. He had staid on, disheartened, to his home in Walton.

Blessing in Disguise.

Customer—But that umbrella looks so awfully cheap and common the price you ask for it is preposterous.

Dealer—My dear sir, that's the beauty of that umbrella. It's really the very best quality, but it's made to appear cheap and common so that no one would think it worth stealing. Philadelphia Press.

A small boy was much astonished to see the cow milked again in the morning. "Well," he said, "I thought you emptied her all out last night."

A NEW PRINCIPLE IN MEDICAL SCIENCE.

For years it has been the practice of medical men to treat patients suffering from piles by local, external applications. These treatments give but temporary relief, but have never affected a positive cure.

After months of research and study, accompanied by actual experience with various patients, Dr. C. A. Perrin arrived at a positive conclusion as to the exact action of the various parts of the bowel system, under different conditions, and when subjected to various prescriptions.

He finally prepared that wonderful internal remedy known as DR. PERRIN'S PILE SPECIFIC, which is put up in bottles, retailing at all reliable drug stores for $1.00 each. This internal remedy has been on the market for the past ten years, and in all of that time there has been but three cases where a positive cure has not been effected.

Dr. Perrin's Pile Specific is sold under a positive guarantee by the druggist making the sale, to refund the full purchase price, providing the remedy fails to cure. This is the absolute proof of its merit. Any man or woman who suffers from blind, bleeding, itching or internal piles can try this internal remedy with the absolute certainty that it will cost nothing unless it cures. Here is what one sufferer says of this wonderful remedy:

Dr. C. A. Perrin, Helena, Mont.—I wish to thank you for the cure your wonderful medicine has done for me. I had the piles some five years, and under the advice of a doctor had them removed by the knife and felt free for awhile, but they returned and I at once got a bottle of your Perrin's Pile Specific and one bottle has entirely cured me, and I am as good as I ever was. Yours truly, JACK SULLIVAN, Chicago.

MANY GOLFERS OUT

Contest Friday Afternoon Attracted Large Number of Players—Several Matches Were Very Close.

Yesterday afternoon the links of the Country club were dotted with many golfers, most of whom participated in the match contest. Two teams had been selected, one captained by Frank Byrns and the other by Frank Waddell. The former team won by twenty holes. The fact that some twenty-six players took part in the contest shows that the interest is rapidly increasing and no doubt future contests will be well attended.

The results of the contest follows:
Byrns' Team. Up, Waddell's Team, Up.
Byrns 0 Waddell 6
Greenleaf 0 Lattrell 1
Hopkins 0 Baldwin 1
Hayden 0 Dunn 1
Schaff 0 Ayers 1
Lefterd 5 Sanders 0
Walker 5 Killen 0
Capps 10 Bellatti 0
Post 5 Gay 0
Farrell 5 Rutledge 0
Andre 3 Hargrove 0
Dinsmore 3 Huffaker 0
Lefterd 4 Hockenbuhl 0
Total 40 Total 30

Several of the matches were very close and as a rule the scores were very creditable and a great deal of interest was manifested throughout the play.

There seems to be a scarcity of caddies and arrangements will have to be made to increase the present list. During the coming month caddies will be much needed and at the time of the championship meet next month it will be necessary to have from fifty to sixty all the time. Caddies make good money when they get employment and for the coming two months at least should earn good wages.

WILL ACT AS HOSTESS

Mrs. Rachel Jackson Lawrence
Granddaughter of "Old Hickory" Arrives at World's Fair.

St. Louis, June 24.—Mrs. Rachel Jackson Lawrence, aged 72, granddaughter of President Andrew Jackson and the companion and favorite grandchild of Old Hickory, who will act as the hostess of the Tennessee building, has arrived and will remain until the close of the world's fair.

The Tennessee building is a reproduction of President Jackson's old home, The Hermitage. Mrs. Lawrence was born there, lived with her grandfather until his death and after her marriage to Mr. Lawrence was the mistress of The Hermitage until it was sold to the state of Tennessee in 1856.

At the time of the death of her grandfather she was 13 years old. From babyhood she had been his constant companion and was scarcely ever separated from him during his last term as president she lived at the white house and was known as the "President's Girl." She returned to The Hermitage with him and eight years later, with his eyes on the portrait of his wife, Rachel Jackson, for whom Mrs. Lawrence was named, and his arms about his grandchild, Andrew Jackson passed away.

Mrs. Lawrence is the daughter of Andrew Jackson, Jr., a nephew of Mrs. Jackson, who was adopted by President Jackson. She was married in 1852 to Dr. John M. Lawrence. Mrs. Lawrence, until her marriage, was one of the belles of middle Tennessee. Stories of her radiant beauty are still told by the elder generation of Tennesseans.

Mrs. Lawrence has many beautiful and interesting souvenirs of her illustrious grandfather, which she holds as priceless. The most valued of these is the pearl miniature of President Jackson's wife, Rachel Jackson. On his deathbed Old Hickory placed the beaded chain to which it was attached around the neck of the then little Rachel Jackson. Jackson himself, with the chain around his neck and the miniature in his left vest pocket, next his heart, had fought one duel for Rachel Jackson's sake.

The dedication of the Tennessee building took place Wednesday, June 22. Governor James B. Frazier and staff, the fourteen members of the Tennessee world's fair commission and distinguished citizens of the state participated.

FUNERALS

ROBINSON.

Funeral services over the remains of J. W. Robinson were held at the family residence on Richard street Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The impressive services were in charge of Rev. R. F. Thrapp and a choir consisting of C. L. Hayden, W. G. Wolfe, Mrs. Wallace Brockman and Miss Cora Graham, sang appropriate hymns. There was a great profusion of floral tokens, which were cared for by Misses Katherine, Lizzie and Carrie Rataichak and Miss Schotter, of Springfield.

After the services at the house the remains were taken to Jacksonville cemetery, where they were laid to rest. At the grave services were carried out according to the Odd Fellows' ritual.

The active bearers were all brother knights of Mr. Robinson, as follows: Charles Knollenberg, Albert Knollenberg, J. J. Reeve, Jacob Claus, William Wilkinson and Arthur McCarthy. The honorary bearers were from the Odd Fellows: Richard Butler, Harry Heint, Matthew Minter, W. E. Baker, T. M. Tomlinson and Elmer Henry.

The Rag Carpet.

The porches of a country house are now quite as important as the living rooms. They are built wider in order to give plenty of space for furnishing. Rag carpet rugs make a serviceable covering there as well as for the whole house. Sewing carpet rugs should be a popular pastime this summer. Now that rag carpet is so fashionable even the best stores are dealing in it.

SUED BY HIS DOCTOR.

"A doctor has sued me for $12.50, which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Coachella, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used, as I had good reason to believe it was, and he would not say under oath that it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this in a case of cholera morbus, it never fails. Sold by all leading druggists.
